

AV is the only system that uses new technology “virea augmented” designed by the AV team, where the interaction between the virtual world and the player’s anatomy is realistic.

The body becomes an evolved game controller.

With this new technology children have more fun, play making natural movements such as jumping, running, using both hands and feet, with a playful tool that, through appropriate graphical changes, can become educational and even therapeutic.

Guarantee of pure entertainment, new experience and an indispensable tool to secure customer’s loyalty.
